Dear Mr. Yu,

I am writing in regard to your application for admission to graduate study at the University of Southern California. After careful review of your application and supporting materials, the Admission Committee has asked me to inform you that your application to the Master of Science program in Computer Science (Scientists and Engineers) for Fall 2018 has not been approved, and we are not able to offer you admission to this program.

We understand this must be very disappointing news. Please bear in mind that each year the university receives applications from many more students than it can accommodate. Admissibility is determined by the size of the applicant pool as well as student credentials. Unfortunately, as a result we are not able to offer admission to some students of significant ability and potential.

We encourage you to continue to work toward your educational and professional goals, and wish you every success in your future endeavors.

Sincerely,

Timothy L. Brunold
Dean of Admission
